Topic: HOW CAN DIALOGUE AROUND RELIGION AND CULTURE HELP ACHIEVE
PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST

Background

Sally Kader, President of the USFMEP and permanent member of the United Nations, is on a tour of the Middle East. Fresh from talks with the Prime Minister of Bahrain about improving efforts and effectiveness in achieving peace in the region she is speaking in Dubai about dialogue around religion and culture.

Sally has led countless workshops for Muslims, Jews and Christians to foster appreciation of each other's culture and beliefs...moderated a Muslim/Hindu dialogue in Mumbai during its time of turmoil and hosted Middle East peace conference at Arab headquarters in Cairo. The results have been so life-altering that her Federation now encircles the globe.

A tireless crusader for gender equality she has inspired women to learn the skills of entrepreneurship so they may start businesses of their own and achieve for the first time the true meaning of independence and self-realization.

As Ambassador of the "Children in Slavery – the 21st Century Campaign' she has brought together an array of world leaders to bring an end to human trafficking – and helped bring about the first-ever global task force to protect children world wide, over the Internet.

Join in the dialogue at the University of Wollongong, James Langridge Auditorium, Block 15 at 12.30pm
